Based on the data collected, the research questions posed in the initial study can be answered. After several improvements and alterations a reliable test simulation system was created in the University of Maryland’s Space System Laboratory. This system allowed for multiple wheel designs to be tested reliably. The data represented in Table IV represents the relationship between the draw-bar pull force and the wheel. It is evident that as the weight increases for each type of wheel, a greater draw-bar pull force